

Saying "Thank You"

In the spirit of Veteran's Day one day early, Kelley School students and staff made cards of thanks for area veterans and those who are currently serving in the Armed Forces and wore red, white and blue attire November 10th as a show of gratitude. Because of COVID-19 restrictions, the school has not been able to have its endearing breakfast and Veteran's Day assembly for the second year in a row. Lisa Spencer, who teaches English as a Second Language at Kelley along with Kelley Speech Language Therapist Shelli Sutton, organized activities at the grades 3-5 school to let veterans and those in active duty know how much we all appreciate their service to our country.
